

Free Will Extra Credit

Analyze repeated instances of the same type where deliberation is involved in making a decision. You must analyze at least two occurrences (tokens) of the same type of event. For example, you may analyze two instances (at minimum) of deciding what to watch from your streaming cue on Netflix (or Hulu). However, this example may not apply to Being John Malkovich or Leaving Las Vegas as those movies are strongly recommended for the course. Another possibility is at least two instances of “What do I want to listen to on my iPod?” Another possibility is “Do I want to go to church today or do _____?” for more than one occasion. There must be actual deliberation. One restriction, you may not use any instances related to food choices including Starbucks!

Writing this Paper

Write a diary of the deliberation for each instance. Explain how each view discussed in class explains those deliberations and whether your resulting action is free or not. I do not want your opinion!

No paper shorter than 3 pages will be accepted.

This paper must be typed, double-spaced with 1-inch margins, 12-point Cambri or Times New Roman font. It must be stapled. If it is not stapled and typed I will immediately return it.

In the header place in 10-point font, single-spaced:

Your Name

Semester (such as Fall 2011)

“Free Will Extra Credit Assignment”

Your Class Time

The assignment is due the last day of class. No late papers will be accepted!

I will return them to you on the date of the final exam.

Point value = 25% of points on the Free Will Test